

Kevin Challis

Kevin has over 15 years experience in people development and training. He's an excellent communicator with international consulting and training experience.

Kevin designs and delivers numerous training and development programmes in the UK and abroad.

People describe Kevin as understanding, challenging, fair, passionate, dedicated, amusing and trustworthy.

He's worked on consultancy assignments with CEO's/MD's to identify strategy, facilitated senior teams to develop vision and strategy and advised on the implementation of training and development programmes.

Kevin works with all levels within public and private sector organisation, enabling middle and aspiring managers to tackle the practical issues of working with staff and assisting front line staff to give excellent customer service.

Learning & Development Solutions with

Mancroft International